The ancient Shankaracharya Temple, also known as the Jyesteswara Temple, is found on top of the hill Takht-i-Sulaiman or "Throne of Solomon", at the height of 350m. Overlooking the lake, Shankaracharya (788-820AC) lived, meditated and did Tapas (penance) here to revive Hinduism which had been eclipsed by Buddhism. He worshipped the Shiva Lingam, which is still found in the Sanctum Sanctorum. Information boards on the spot tells, that Advaita Shankaracharya "attained spiritual knowledge" at this particular place and after that went out and formed the four Hindu schools of Advaita, the philosophy of non-dualism.

Shankaracharya lies in Srinagar District across the Nehru Park. A beautiful island overlooking Dal Lake, one can either trek to Shankaracharya Temple from the Durganag Temple lying in civil lines area or alternatively can take an automobile up to the footsteps from the Boulevard road. The climb is approx. 7 Kms and then there is a flight of 100 odd steps up. The road passes through jungle and offers beautiful views all-round.

The temple dates back to 200 BC, although the present structure probably dates back to the 9th century AD. It was visited by Adi Shankara and has ever since been associated with him, this is how the temple got the name Shankaracharya. It is also regarded as sacred by Buddhists. The Shiv ling was placed inside during the Sikh period in nineteenth century and it became an active Hindu temple when regular services were conducted. Some historians report that the temple was actually a Buddhist temple during Buddhist era which was then changed into Hindu site of worship by Adi Shankaracharya. Persians and Jews call it Bagh-I-Sulaiman or the Garden of King Solomon. Persian inscriptions are also found inside the temple.

Paragliding is a brand new form of sport flying, which offers perhaps the easiest and most fun way for almost anyone to realize the age-old dream of personal flight. To fly with the birds as they fly. Experience free flight from another perspective. Glide in the clear blue sky, fly into the fantastic and unbelievable view of the Zabarwan Mountains, see the views of eternal ice, the simmering waters of the Dal Lake, and realize your dream of flying like a bird
